The cylindrical design of the tea infuser means it can be placed vertically. Its shape is similar to a sitting dog waiting, reminding one of the utensil's value and its desire to be used.

The woven bottom allows water to flow slowly. Use in a teapot or directly in a glass to make tea. The infuser has been coated with one layer of natural vegetable oil for protection. After first use, the utensil's bamboo aroma may remain.

Suggested use: Soak the bamboo vessel in clean, room temperature water. Then add tea leaves, then slowly pour in hot water.
