

Designer: MONMAYA

A medium-sized and slightly modified version of the traditional Japanese "Sendai Tansu" or a warrior's chest of drawers, the Wooden Lacquer Cabinet flaunts a complicated and time-consuming lacquer technique called kiji-ro-urushi. The method involves using high-grade lacquer through 30 different processes.

Despite the mirror-like surface, the beautiful wooden grain of the zelkova tree can be seen through the transparent lacquer coat underneath, making this a unique and beautiful addition to your home. The drawers are made of paulownia wood known for efficiently controlling moisture. The chest can be used as a decorative piece or to store luxury watches, silk scarves, and other precious items.
