The Red White Blue series of works, including posters, vases, bags, and more, is a recreation of the red-white-blue bags which are commonly used by people in Hong Kong. The artist wanted to inculcate an appreciation for the cultural identity with these works that represent a journey from the past to the present and encourage a journey from the present to the future.

"Iconic and relatable, the redwhiteblue series has turned a common three-colored tarp in Hong Kong into a symbol for the city - for its vibrancy, versatility, toughness, grassroots quality and many more."

- Stanley Wong
