

Designer: LINNE

The Chibi is a very small (just under 2-3 cm) phosphorus singing object. When shaken gently, a clear sound resonates. It was created with the hope that the sound of the orin can intimately resonate within the hearts of its users.

The sound of the orin can be enjoyed in many ways - to wake up in the morning, reset your busy mind, for meditation or yoga, or for daily prayer.

The Chibi does not make much sound when you hold the top of the braid and shake it. If you hold the knot part and shake it lightly, it will sound a clear tone and resonate more easily.
