

Designer: LIANG MU

This dessert bowl set from the Blue Dye Tableware range has a spoon included for a left-handed preference. With softer lines and a more subdued surface, the bowl has a just-right “sweetness” that resonates with tangshui (“sweet water”), the Chinese word for dessert. The elevated base design gives the ordinary bowl a unique character and a sense of ritual while making it easier to hold hot or cold desserts. The spoon is light and petal-like, designed to fit either left or right-handed grips, adding an extra touch of flexibility and subtlety to this everyday tableware.

The bone powder content for each item is 43%, which far exceeds the international bone china standards.
