

Designer: SUMPHAT GALLERY

Lacquerware has now become uncommon and rarely found. This weaving container is coated multiple times with Urushi sap to make it strong enough to hold liquid or food. Urushi Lacquer sap is known for its natural anti-bacterial properties. Urushiol, an ingredient of lacquer, is highly anti-bacterial; most foodborne pathogenic bacteria will not survive beyond 6 hours after in contact with it.

Each item is made to order and handmade by a specific individual artisan.

Dimensions: W10 x H15 cm

Note: If your total order from Sumphat Gallery results in packaging that is larger than 1 cubic meter, they will need to use a crate to pack the products together for a packaging fee of US$195. Vermillion's Client Services team will contact you should this be applicable to your order.
